Hello Members,

Have you ever heard a captain say on the PA, " the flight attendants are here primarily for your safety."? Well it's true! Before we were titled stewardess or flight attendant, our title was a nurse. You had to be a qualified nurse to ensure the safety and health of airline passengers. We have training on CPR, first aid, preventing and fighting fires, evacuating aircraft, and now more than ever being trained on security. Through training we are equipped as First Responders. We are more than just a warm friendly smile providing excellent service. We are the first to respond to any emergency on board, on the ground and in the air. Your job is very necessary to the safety of the airline industry and its passengers. Flight Attendants are unsung heroes.

Envoy's AFA Air Safety, Health & Security Committee is dedicated to ensure that safety and security remains a priority to the company and airline industry. Your safety and security is vital to you doing your job as a First Responder. We work hard to make sure you have all the tools you need to protect yourself in the process of protecting your passengers. To ensure this, we need the help of our members. The most important thing that I would like to stress is that you know the ASHS, Section - 26, of your contract. I would also like to encourage your participation; nothing ever gets changed by sitting on the side lines as a spectator. Getting involved creates a positive shift toward progress. Please come and be a part of a movement that ensures our voices are being heard. We want to continually be recognized and valued as an asset to the company and airline industry because we are the FIRST RESPONDERS..... Take care of yourself and each other.

Keep Safe,

Baraka Davis
